Detroit in New York.

Chicago in Philadelphia Bt. Louis in Boston

Although Russell Ford receives a larg salary to pitch for the Highlanders, I did not earn it yesterday in the or sided struggle with the Detroit Tiger on the Hilltop. Whether it was the tor rid weather that affected Ford or not could not be learned, but the fact remains that he had neither speed nor curves during the first inning, when the visitors hammered him for four singles, a three bagger and six runs. It was true that Ford's companions made several damaging errors, also that he pulled himself together and pitched runless ball after that until the eighth inning. But lightning he tossed it in the direction of the middle bag. The throw was a triff-high and wide, but Louden stretched up his bare right hand and caught the pelle just in time to force Sterrett.

Pat Maloney, although weak at the bat, also made a phenomenal running catch in the same inning, Jones sent a whistling liner to short centre field, and Maloney catching the ball off his shoetons, fell headleng on his face at the tops, fell headlong on his face, at the same time holding the leather up, so that the umpires could record the out. **:

the umpires could record the out. *falloney had a royal opportunity to send in two runs with a single in the fifth, but his best effort was a little grounder to the pitcher.

Young Dowd, the new shortstop, again displayed skill in handling some hot shot and also stung the ball for two safeties. Tyrus Cobb, who is having a close race with Joe Jackson of Cleveland for American League batting honors, beat out four infield hits by tall sprinting. Crawford teo found Ford for three hits.

The Tigere's six runs in the first inning dampened the enthusiasm of the home team's faithful followers. Vitt opened with a two bagger and Bush sacrificed, Ford to Sterrett. The latter, however, threw low to Sweeney and Vitt, by fast running, scored. Cobb singled to Dowd and then gave a characteristic display of base running by scoring all the way from first on Crawford's long.

TEN STRAIGHT FOR SENATORS.

Cleveland Naps Fall in Path of Griffith's Washingtons.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Washington wen an uphill victory over the Naps this afternoon by 8 to 7. Cleveland knocked Greem out of the box in the first inning, piling up six runs. Cashion, who succeeded Groom, was touched up for a home run in the second, but settled down and pitched good ball until relieved by Vaughn in the cighth. There was no fluke about the Washington victory. Griffith's youngsters hit Baskette hard in the third, fifth and eighth, sending over enough runs to and eighth, sending over enough runs to the the score. A single by Henry in the ninth, Vaughn's long fly which Jackson muffed and Moeller's smash through Lajoie won the game. To-day's victory makes ten in a row for the Senators. The score:

SOX OUTFINISH ATHLETICS.

Cut Down Three Run Lead and Then Win Out in Ninth.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Overcoming a three run lead which the Athletics obtained in the fourth inning, when they pounded Rube Peters out of the box, the White Sox tied up the game in the seventh and won out in the ninth on a pass, a steal and Harry Lord's infield hit, which enabled Rath to score from second by sensational base running, the final score being 4 to 3.

Cicotte, just purchased from Boston by Chicago, reported to Manager Callahan before game time. The score:

To-day's Schedule. New York in Chicago. Boston in St. Louis.

Philadelphia in Pittsburg.

CHICAGO, July 10 .- Not one of the Giants reached second base to-day, but three of them reached the hospital. The Cubs whitewashed the New Yorkers by a score of 3 to 0, and a complete job of kalsomining it was, seeing that the dia-mond beyond first base was an unexplored region for the Glants.

Three of McGraw's soldiers fell maimed in the battle. Arthur Fletcher's little finger of the left hand was badly smashed. Hank Groh's third finger of the right hand was severely cut and the little finger of Arthur Wilson's right hand was

Of the three damaged digits Fletcher's is the worst hurt. Lew Richie had hopping speed to-day and in the fifth inning after that until the eighth inning. But he weakened then and seven hits were gathered in the last two periods.

Handleapped in the box in this manner the Highlanders had no carthly chance to win. Dubue held them in check, aided by magnificent support, particularly that of Bush and Louden, who executed a play in the eighth inning rarely if ever seen on a baseball field. Sterrett opened that round with a clean base hit and after Zinn had fanned, Simmons drove a hot grounder directly over second base. It looked like a sure single, but little Bush, running at top speed, scooped the ball with his gloved hand and quick as lightning he tossed it in the direction of the middle hear. The total random and provided here the content of the middle hear. The store:

The game went glimmering while Ames was in the box. The batting on the Chicago side was almost as nebulous as that was in the box. The batting on the take ago side was almost as nebulous as that of the Glants, but the Cubs tackled Ames for three hits in the second inning and there was other weakness by that pitcher. He gave a base on balls in the fatal second, as well as making a wild pitch and a mistake in judgment in throwing to the wrong base. The hitting alone, however, would have rounded up enough sooring for the Cubs to win, inasmuch as the Glants partook of a large ripe goose legg.

Lew, the lurid, was in rare form and his smoke was all the more effective on such a dark, murky day. The air was heavy and lifeless and imparted that enervating quality to the New York batters.

Against Tesreau and Crandall the Cubs were as diffident with the stick as the Giants were against Richie. Most of the action of the game came from men being put out. There was much inaction by the batters in that many of them were outguessed by the pitchers and stood inanimately while good balls skimmed through the strike zone.

The hits of the Giants were all lonesome singles from two to three innings apart, Merkle gave the enemy some work in the fourth inning before they nipped him. He had singled his way to first when Murray grounded to Evers. Evers ran Merkle back, threw to first in time to blot out Murray and Merkle was caught between the bases. He shuttled back and forth until the jam of pursuers closed in on him. The next New York player who had the distinction of arriving at first was Fletcher. When he was hit in the fifth inning Doyle took his place on first and hovered there until Richle threw out Groh. Becker snipped off a single in the sixth, which robust feat was merely a misspent effort between the whiffing of Snodgrass and Merkle.

NOTES OF THE GIANTS.

The Cubs have played two errorless games n this series with the Giants.

Snodgrass and Tesrcau each landed on the ball hard once, but the accomplished Leach went far out and pulled down their long drives.

It is likely that McGraw will come back with Marquard to-morrow, and if he does the Rube probably will draw Cheney as an opponent.

To-day's shutout was the first for the Giants since early in April and the second of the season for them. Hub Perdue inflicted the other one. One of Tesreau's vapor bails curied clear behind Schulte. Had it kept on curiing and crossed the pan it would have been a strike, but it did not do that.

As a pinch hittist here John Devore has not been a successist. He has fanned twice. Josh's lamps are bothering him from a long slege in the sun in New York.

A poor decision by Busn took a hit away from Herzog. Zimmerman made a fine stop, but a poor throw on Herzog, and the latter crossed the bag while Saisr's foot was off reaching for the ball.

Wilson's throwing to bases was good, al-hough three sacks were stolen on him. The lecisions on steals were all close. The Giants, by the way, have not stolen a base here this rip. Archer is a demon thrower. President Lynch of the National League was here to-day investigating a complaint made in Pittsburg against Tinker and Evers of the Cubs for Jawing at spectators in Prateville. Lynch is inclined to think the umpures could have prevented the trouble by acting promptly, which apparently they did not do. Righer and Finneran were the umpires in question.

design is unimportant. The boys who load your trucks think this is the main thing.

Those husky, good-natured hard - working fellows down there around the shipping room door-the men who load and drive and unload your trucks. You want to get all the efficiency they can give you.

Then don't slight even the smallest detail when it comes to selecting truck bodies.

This hasn't been a good racing season for Ralph De Palma, although he began auspiciously enough by winning the small car event at Santa Monica. Although he made all the racing at Indianapolis in the 500 mile race and completed 199 laps out of the required 200, he didn't get credit for a single record of the many he made for intermediate distances. The A. A. A. rule is that a car must finish to get credit for intermediate performances and perhaps there is some justice in this when a driver goes out of intermediate marks alone with no intention ever of finishing. How absurb the rule can be is shown by De Palma's case alone.
